SCAVENGER HUNT

Learn, Explore and Play at the Zoo

- Key:
- Imagination & Originality
 - Communication & Self-expression
 - ▲ Action & Movement

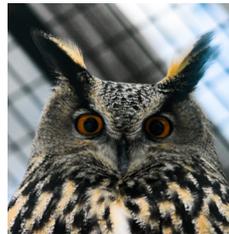

MAIN BUILDING

- Snapping Turtle: With their large webbed feet, snapping turtles are powerful swimmers.
 - ▲ Pretend to swim through the water like a snapping turtle.
- Parrots: Parrots are highly intelligent birds. Some even learn to speak!
 - What would you say if you were a parrot?
- Chameleon: This lizard can change color to warm up, cool off, or communicate its mood.
 - What colors is he today? What do you think he's feeling?

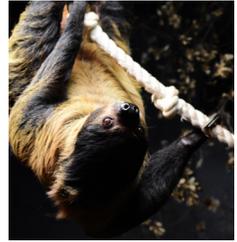

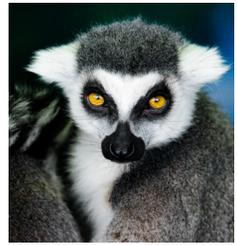

OUTSIDE MAIN BUILDING

- Tiger: No two tigers' stripes are the same, just like our fingerprints! The striped pattern helps tigers blend in—or camouflage—into the tall grass while they are hunting.
 - ▲ Pretend to stalk like a tiger.
- Eurasian eagle-owl: Owls have great eyesight, but they can't move their eyeballs like we can. Instead, owls can rotate their neck to look behind them!
 - ▲ Make binoculars with your hands to see what an owl sees! How far can you turn your head?

PRIMATE CENTER/NOCTURNAL

- Lemurs: Ring-tailed lemurs use their long tails to help them keep their balance as they leap through the forest.
 - Invent a short story about how the lemur got rings on its tail.
- Porcupine: Porcupines are covered with thousands of quills for protection.
 - What would you want to be covered in to scare off predators?
- Find a critter snoozing and sing them a lullaby!
- Two-toed Sloth: Sloths have specialized toes that help them hang upside-down.
 - What do you think the world looks like upside-down?

BEAR COUNTRY

- Bears: A brown bear eats 90 pounds of food per day when getting ready to hibernate!
 - Think of three words that rhyme with bear.
- Cougars: Cougars are excellent jumpers. They can leap up 15 feet from the ground!
 - ▲ Jump as high as you can like a cougar.

AFRICAN LIONS

- Lions: Lions take long cat naps—they can sleep for 21 hours a day!
 - What do you think lions dream about?

AUSTRALIA/OCEANIA

- Kookaburra: The laughing kookaburra got its name from its loud, laugh-like call.
 - Tell the kookaburras a knock-knock joke. Did they laugh?
- Green tree python: Green tree pythons have little pits on the side of their face that help them sense heat to find prey.
 - Would these heat-sensing pits be handy to have? What would you use them for?
